

Raymond Chen '22

Summer 2019

This summer, I had the opportunity to intern at Scotts Miracle Gro as a Cloud Applications Intern. Through the internship, I helped create an application used for regulating the production of almost a billion dollars in revenue every year. I was able to apply various topics in mathematics including number theory to computer science. It was very rewarding to be able to apply what I learned in both Computer Science and Mathematics courses at Dartmouth to an actual product.