Hint for Problem 172

How does the number of compositions of $k$ into $n$ distinct parts compare to the number of compositions of $k$ into $n$ parts (not necessarily distinct)? What do compositions have to do with partitions?